Supplemental Questions

Question applies to Youth Commission

Please list your community involvement, including jobs and volunteer work.

I am the current San Jose District 4 Youth Commissioner, I have held this seat since 2018 and I was a member of District 4 Youth Advisory Council before being appointed the Youth Commissioner. Throughout my time in D4YAC, I have hosted 2 litter pickups and served as the event director for our annual event, AIM. In addition, I am an officer of a community service club called Interact at my high school. During my sophomore year, I served as a board member and lead community service activities at local organizations such as Loaves and Fishes and Sacred Heart every week. This year, I am the board director. At my high school, I am part of a service club called Interact club. As an officer, I have served over 150 hours of community service with organizations such as loaves and fishes and sacred heart. Most recently, I was elected co-president of Piedmont Hills Interact Club and I am a supreme court justice in Piedmont Hills ASB. As a supreme court justice, I run ASB elections and ensure their integrity. I also oversee class competitions such as Homecoming and Fantastics and help enforce ASB rules to clubs.

Question applies to Youth Commission

In one paragraph, please explain your community interests.

Throughout my time on the Youth Commission, I have been given numerous opportunities to serve my community. I helped to write a policy recommendation about voter education and hosted events such as litter pickups, to help beautify my district, and A.I.M, District 4 Youth Advisory Council's annual youth guidance event. I am passionate about empowering the voices of the youth in my district and I have worked to educate my youth advisory council members about the city and civically engage my peers. I also hope to civically engage the youth of my community in other ways, this year I planned to work with a club at my high school to educate youth on local elections. Outside of the Youth Commission, I continue to serve in my community by volunteering with charitable organizations that help low income families and tutoring youth at Read, Write Discover and Matheasy.

Question applies to Youth Commission

What do you feel are some of the problems facing the youth of San Jose?

One problem that is facing the youth of San Jose is mental health. The culture in San Jose and the Bay Area as a whole perpetuates a harmful belief that in order to be successful high school students must push themselves to their limits. I have had numerous conversations with youth in my district who have talked about the pressure they go through, not from their parents, but from their peers to always be part of more clubs and take more advanced classes in order to keep up. This seems like a universal experience for youth in San Jose

Question applies to Youth Commission

What do you feel the priorities of the Youth Commission should be?

One thing I feel the Youth Commission should prioritize next year is the Youth Bill of Rights. This year we had planned on updating the Youth Bill of Rights since it was written about 10 years ago but we were not able to finish due to the recent pandemic. Next year, I would like for the Youth Commission to update the Bill of Rights and then work on having City Council use it more often when making decisions. Also, I believe it would be beneficial if we could use the Bill of Rights as an outline for a general plan for the Youth of San Jose similar to the Envision 2040 plan. This will help guide the City Council on youth issues and will give youth an opportunity to help plan for the future of the city.

Have you ever attended a meeting of the Commission(s) to which you are applying?

Yes No

Would you be available to attend meetings at the scheduled time?

Yes No

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

I have served on the San Jose Youth Commission for two years. During these two years, I have served as the second vice-chair of the Youth Commission. I have grown as a lot as a leader through leading my YAC and the Youth Commission and I have been able to find a support system with the other commissioners and staff. I became a youth commissioner as a sophomore and it was my first major leadership experience, it was like suddenly becoming president of a club. Luckily, I had a lot of support from my predecessor and staff so I learned basically all of the leadership skills through the Youth Commission.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, professional, social, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment to the selected commission(s).

Through my experience on the Youth Commission and Interact, I have gained a lot of leadership skills such as organization and delegation. As Youth Commissioner, I oversee all of the projects that my YAC plans which include our annual AIM event, litter pickups, and policy recommendations. In addition, I also manage all of the service activities in Interact. Although this will be my third year as a youth commissioner, I believe that I can use my experience to continue to improve my YAC. This year I implemented more opportunities for my YAC members to lead their own projects and I hope to continue this system next year.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The Youth Commission represents all of the youth in San Jose in city-related matters. There is one commissioner per district that leads a youth advisory council in order to gain the input of youth and create events that help support the youth of San Jose.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Commission should address.

Three issues facing the city that I feel the Youth Commission should address is technological inclusivity, drug abuse, and housing. During this pandemic, we have seen how important it is for everyone to have access to the internet. School districts have done a good job of giving out Chromebooks and helping students obtain wifi and libraries and community centers are good resources but it does not mean everyone has access to the internet still. Without the pandemic, students who borrowed Chromebooks would not have been able to have a device they could bring home and the wifi offered only lasts about a month. Also, adults do not qualify for any of this so during the lockdown there are adults that have no access to internet since everything is closed, which is dangerous because sites like Verily that help facilitate testing are online. Drug abuse is an issue that affects not just adults, many high school students are affected by drugs and alcohol abuse themselves. Housing is another huge issue that everyone is trying to work on. During my first year on the Youth Commission, we went to some meetings with Silicon Valley at Home and it showed that housing issues affect everyone. I have friends who have been evicted and my own parents plan on leaving San Jose as soon as I graduate due to housing prices.

The debate team has over 50 members.

Question applies to Youth Commission

In one paragraph, please explain your community interests.

My community interests are debate and politics. I am apart of my school's congressional debate, and I have achieved a great deal of success in it this year. Onto politics, I am very politically active. I am apart of a Rishi Kumar's (a candidate for congress) intern team. I stay up to date on politics and often times even directly advise him on policies. I also am the president/founder of a community organization named Empowering Youth Action (EYA). The goal of EYA is to inspire youth to incite both social and legislative change throughout all levels of society.

Question applies to Youth Commission

What do you feel are some of the problems facing the youth of San Jose?

Holistically, one of the biggest problems facing the youth of San Jose is poverty. Now I know how cliché that is, but allow me to break it down through the perspective of a youth living in the Bay Area. Currently, San Jose is by far one of the most expensive places to live. In fact, according to Investopedia, it is the 7th most expensive city to live in throughout the nation! A problem that high cost of living leads to is almost always poverty, and when a child's parents don't have jobs or are struggling to make ends meet, there can be detrimental effects. The most obvious one is hunger, which according to the SF Chronicle, 10% of people living in the Bay Area suffer from. With the recent COVID-19 outbreak, placing thousands in San Jose, this problem has been exacerbated. Another detrimental effect of poverty and San Jose's high cost of living, though less talked about, is cyclical poverty. Having done hours upon hours of research into cyclical poverty, I found that this is by far the biggest problem facing San Jose youth today. Essentially, people who have grown up in poverty are stuck in a systematic cycle of poverty and horrible circumstances, with their chances for upward mobility destroyed. This is due to the fact that parents who don't have high paying jobs often move to worse areas, such as South San Jose, where I live. There the cost of living is cheaper, but the education is worse. These schools, such as my local school Oak Grove, are underfunded, and often times don't have the resources to help kids succeed. This then incentivizes the youth attending these schools to not be as motivated, which then leads to a higher high school drop out rate, and then low paying jobs, and then poverty. This is the vicious cycle that so many youth in San Jose are going through, and we need to work to break it. Although I am no economist, my humble opinion is that we need to start pouring more money into schools in under privileged areas, such as South San Jose. From there, I believe the cycle of poverty will destroy itself.

What do you feel the priorities of the Youth Commission should be?

As explained above, I feel the Youth Commission should be proposing policies that help fund education in underprivileged areas. This can be done through the funding of extracurricular, such as speech and debate, robotics, theater, and art programs. A lot of schools in underprivileged areas can't afford to pay for these activities, so I feel that helping them fund communities and improve their education quality should be one of our top priorities. The future of America is our youth, so we need to start investing in them. Other priorities should be climate change, which I know the Youth Commission has already acted on, and the homelessness crisis.

Have you ever attended a meeting of the Commission(s) to which you are applying?

Yes No

Would you be available to attend meetings at the scheduled time?

Yes No

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

I do not have any experience in serving on a commission or board. I do hold many leadership positions in a variety of community activities.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, professional, social, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment to the selected commission(s).

Having started my own successful youth activism movement, I believe I am extremely qualified to be a part of the youth commission. Through my movement, I am constantly doing research on local policy and seeing what would be the best outcome for bay area youth. I am also a great public speaker, and I have never had any problems speaking in front of large crowds.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

I believe the purpose of the Commission is to act as a bridge between youth and local politics. From my understanding, I believe that the Youth Commission gives policy recommendations as well as proposing their own.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Commission should address.

1. Education 2. Homelessness 3. Environmental Problems

I would like to say . . .

Thanks so much for giving me an opportunity to apply, I hope I can work with the Youth Commission to make San Jose a better place!

Supplemental Questions

Question applies to Youth Commission

Please list your community involvement, including jobs and volunteer work.

District 10 Youth Commissioner—I lead the D10 YAC, I hosted 2 creek cleanups, and I helped to plan the YAC Summit. Vice President of TeensReach—I help to lead the TeensReach meetings, plan events for TeensReach, and volunteer at the library. Chair of the Leland Speech and Debate team (2019-Present)

Question applies to Youth Commission

In one paragraph, please explain your community interests.

I am interested in four main aspects of the community. First, I enjoy fostering a culture of collaboration through being a leader in my debate team. Second, I am interested in promoting volunteerism through my role in providing opportunities to youth to volunteer at the Almaden Library. Third, I am dedicated to beautifying my District through creek cleanups. Finally, I enjoy promoting activism and civic engagement in my community by leading the District 10 Youth Advisory Council.

Question applies to Youth Commission

What do you feel are some of the problems facing the youth of San Jose?

I think that a lot of youth face mental health and drug abuse problems. Many youth experience homelessness and hunger on a daily basis. Moreover, foster youth face homelessness and barriers to education once they age out of the system.

Question applies to Youth Commission

What do you feel the priorities of the Youth Commission should be?

The Youth Commission should focus on creating positive changes in the lives of the youth by hosting events like AIM and the YAC Summit, writing policy recommendations like mine that targeted mental health issues in San Jose, and providing resources to those who lack them.

Have you ever attended a meeting of the Commission(s) to which you are applying?

Yes No

Would you be available to attend meetings at the scheduled time?

Yes No

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

While serving on the Youth Commission, I wrote several policy recommendations one of which was passed by City Hall (the investment of the Bloomberg funds into Climate Smart San Jose) and one of which is going through the budgeting process at the moment (providing mental health training to afterschool coordinators).

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, professional, social, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment to the selected commission(s).

I have acquired many leadership skills—including delegating tasks, mediating compromise, planning events, time-management, and organizational skills—through my work as a Youth Commissioner. Moreover, I enhanced my communication and critical thinking skills through speech and debate. I believe these experiences and skills qualify me for an appointment to the Youth Commission as they are the skills Commissioners need to succeed.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The Commission has four major responsibilities. First, through policy recommendations and letters they advise City Hall and other organizations on various courses of action they should take. Second, they lead Youth Advisory Councils to organize and host local events like creek cleanups. Third, they host city-wide events that are applicable to large groups of people, like the YAC Summit. Fourth, they engage in dialogue with City officials to gain a deeper understanding of municipal affairs, which they can then apply in their discussions with the Youth Advisory Councils.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Commission should address.

The Commission should address the lack of volunteerism, the excessive amount of pressure to succeed in schools, and the plastic pollution issues in San Jose.

I would like to say . . .

I hope to be appointed to this position once more in order to have a strong end to my high school years.
