RE: Support for All Children in Policy Considerations – Suicide Prevention Policy

Dear Mayor, Vice Mayor and Councilmembers,

I am writing to you AGAIN to urge you to support the Suicide Prevention Policy, submitted by Councilmember Raul Perez. This is an important issue to me personally, and I think it an imperative that the City of San Jose take steps to draw attention to and address it.

SUICIDE IS AN UNWANTED END FOR ALL CHILDREN (no matter how old they are)

Critical understanding and support for those suffering with cognitive disabilities needs to go beyond medicine. Over a third of INDIVIDUALS do not respond or are treated by medicine. Medicine for one illness can initiate and/or increase the rate of manic episodes for another illness. Cognitive therapy does not work for all. Psychosis is managed by notable life contributors. Our HISTORY is rich with people with mental illness, who, fortunately for us, were saved from suicide. Let us provide present opportunities for INDIVIDUALS AND OUR FUTURE.

Engagement policies and effective options for individuals caught in a cycle can be broken through TIMELY CARE and NOT FEAR.

Don't be afraid to turn the conversation to HELP. Stand up to allow an opportunity

- for those personally affected to succeed in their lives,
- for our friends, family and loved ones, and
- for our community – that may not even know enough to know they don't know what can or how to HELP.

Thank you for your consideration and leadership on this issue. I hope that you will vote in support of the Suicide Prevention Policy.

Sincerely,

Gail Waid

Dear Local Govts., of the south bay,

I have not asked for, the actual tech. you will be using, for the Big Belly project.

Please respect, prepare, and begin to reply, what I have been asking for, the past two weeks.

A simple, yet organized idea, of what exactly, are the VTA, by-laws, rules, and guidelines, about accountability and transparency, with the public.

And, what exactly are the procedures, the VTA goes about, introducing new technology, to the public, and to the community.

May I have a copy, of the actual, rules and codes, of the VTA, with accountability, transparency, and openness, issues ?

From here, well intentioned, next steps, can be thought of, and begin.

I have had a busy week. I will start a phone call process, next week.

Please write back if you can. Writing seems, a more clear and cognitive way, to work with these questions.

Dear local govts., of the south bay,

It is the start of a new week. I have been writing since at least, Thurs. April 12, 2018.

To ask again, under what VTA/Joint Powers Board, is the Big Belly smart trash can project, a part of, in downtown San Jose ?

I would also like an explanation, of the civil rights, civil protections, privacy/accountability policy, of this project, that should be a part of each, VTA and Joint Powers Board process.

The rights of the individual, has always been considered, as an important check, in the balance of power, between branches of government, since the beginnings, of this country's history.

I am learning, these sorts of subjects, can be an awkward, for any level of govt., to talk about, with everyday people.

But it is a mandatory function, that has helped build this country. And, it is how to maintain, and continue the future of this country, as well.

It has been over 10 days, since I have first started, to ask these questions, about the Big Belly, smart trash can project, in downtown San Jose.

You should be able, to begin to formulate, some sort of, civil rights, civil protection, privacy/accountability policy, in simple, procedural terms.

I will start to make phone calls, to the addresses above, tomorrow, if no one can write back, today.

I am not here to play gotcha politics. We are at a time, we can create, more distance from the era of 9/11/01.

I would like to learn, how to develop, what can be, more friendly, peaceful, and sustainable ideas, for the community process.

We are about to start, a long process together. Peace through learning is an important concept.

Government, at all levels, should learn to trust this concept, and the good natured intentions, of the community process.

It is how to end war. And how to build a sustainable, democratic, community future .

What can be good accountability practices, you already understand, we should begin to talk about, in a phone call, soon.

But I feel it could be, a more comprehensive process, and not as fearful, if you were to learn, how to begin to write myself back, at this time.

What is, the VTA Joint Powers Board, in charge of, the Big Belly smart trash can project ?

What would be, its privacy/accountability policy ?

From here, I can start to piece things together,

And hopefully, we can all begin, to better question and understand, what can be the future, of the Big Belly smart trash can project, for downtown San Jose.

What VTA Joint Powers Board, would the Big Belly Trash Can, be a part of ?

Dear Shane Patrick, chief of Staff,

Sorry for writing, on a sunday afternoon.

I thought it could help prepare sooner, for the upcoming week.

I read the Joint Powers Board, of the VTA is with,

- Amtrak, a federal agency.
- ACE Altamont Corridor Express, which is CalTrans District 10, the San Joaquin Regional Rail Authority, among others,
- CalTrain, who offered something of its usual, authoritative opacity and confusion, and did not offer, some form of transparency, on their website,

It is fair to assume, Caltrain, works with state agencies, and perhaps federal agencies, as well. (u.s.congresswoman Jackie Speier's, difficult grant work with Caltrain, obviously comes to mind.)

That's four agencies, mostly working at a state level. And would partly offer, why the new Big Belly project downtown, feels distant, and not thought out.

For all of my anger, at the secrecy, of the city of San Jose, LED light system, and other s.j. city govt. IoT projects, it has become clear, Civic Innovation, with Knight Foundation, and others, (my work?), a degree of care, seems to be happening, in how to design, the future of community civil rights, and civil protection issues, with IoT, that the Big Belly project, downtown, seems, it does not have.

With this said, as you stated, in your previous letter, below, (a nice letter by the way, thank you.)

You said, the Big Belly, smart trash can project, of downtown, is under the auspices, of its Joint Powers Board. Have I labeled this Joint Powers Board correctly, above ?

Or are there other, Joint Power Boards, the VTA, is a part of. ?

It is from here, I can begin to try to piece together, under what authority, the Big Belly trash can, works under.

And, how I can ask questions, about its accountability and transparency.

Dear Blair,

The Big Belly smart trash cans improve the environment and reduce costs because they are emptied only when full, which cuts down on the trips that a trash collection vehicle must make (and fewer trips means less greenhouse gas emissions and less collection expense). This is an initiative of the Valley Transportation Authority, so questions about it should be directed to the VTA. The SCC Surveillance and Technology Ordinance would not apply, as the VTA is a joint-powers authority and not an agency of the County government.

The three questions below, can be a lot to ask. But they should be, mostly straightforward and simple, legal questions.

Please notice, all who I have addressed, this letter to, to cross check, refer to, and be clear, if needed.

Questions.

1. Considering the VTA, is at least, a part-county government agency, does the Big Belly project, and its smart technology, fall under the Santa Clara County, Surveillance and Technology Ordinance ?
2. How is the smart technology, of the Big Belly Smart Technology Project, in downtown San Jose, acknowledged and inventoried, by the Santa Clara County Surveillance and Technology Ordinance, at this time ?
3. And finally, how was this project, initially approved, by the Board of Supervisors, or the County officials, within the legal framework, of this Ordinance ?

sincerely,
blair beekman

I am learning, the easiest way, through this awkward period, for all of us, is to ask the simple procedural question.

What is the openness and accountability policy, for the VTA and Joint Powers Board, that is currently in charge, of the Big Belly smart trash can project ?

From here, well intentioned, next steps, can be thought of, and begin.

Like how to decide, which local government agency, is responsible for which piece of technology, used with the Big Belly.

It seems the VTA, and the MTC, have helped purchased and introduce the Big Belly. But the city of San Jose, and others, may be in charge of the tech. installed in the Big Belly.

No one has written back, in two weeks. This seems to suggest, as government, you are insecure, and confused, about this project.

Part of my job, is to try to create bridges, from the past fifteen years of war.

And, as where we have all become too scared, to talk to each other, in more simple, open, thoughtful, and trusting terms.

Welcome to a new peaceful future. I am an everyday person, wanting to work toward the ideas of peace, p.s.

As things are new to all of us, you have difficult job at this time, sorting out the responsibility, of the Big Belly project.

No matter how much I will try to work with you, to ask you to end the Big Belly program.

I am not here play gotcha politics. I am helping with future accountability standards, while at the same time, wanting to be a more regular part of the community.

It is part of my role in life, at this time, to help figure out, what can be, good public accountability.

I have chosen a role of compromise, for a greater good that is possible.

What I feel we should all agree on, is that a project is in good, full working order, with the public.

I feel we are at a point, we can more openly ask, how the future of this country's national security, can be based on leaving the concepts of war.

And to begin. in how to return to the ideas, of good reasoning, safety, less opacity, and confusion.

This idea, of peaceful , democratic, sustainability, should be an important priority, for everyone of a community. From everyday people, to government themselves.

As I have tried to ask, for over two weeks now,

And, how this transparency may relate, with the VTA, as a state, joint powers board.

And, how this transparency relates, to other local governments, sharing the responsibility, of the current Big Belly project, of downtown San Jose.

A well intentioned guideline process, helped developed by supv. Joseph Simitian, with supv. Cindy Chavez, and the County govt. of Santa Clara, is currently asking, how to help, end the era of 9/11/01, and how to begin, to move toward, a new, better reasoned, more peaceful, sustainable idea, for a community, its future, and an overall health, of this country.

I am here to help, not to hurt. Please learn to simply write back, or accept my phone calls, as you should be understanding my intentions.

Subject: PRNS City Parks Critical Budget Needs

Dear Mayor Liccardo, Council Members and City Management

We are San Jose residents who seek your support in the FY 2018-2019 budget to meet our city parks' urgent maintenance and rehabilitation needs. We do not want to see the City again balance its budget shortfall on the backs of our city parks, and especially our parks maintenance department as has happened in past tough budget times that still impacts PRNS.

PRNS management under Angel Rios' leadership has been working hard to gain better operating efficiencies. Their efforts have yielded good results including finding other sources of revenue and help from outside the general fund. However, this alone fails to adequately offset cuts to an already very tight budget, nor does it address growing needs to support a number of additional new parks and increased safety and cleanup issues beyond the historic role of park maintenance. Somehow the city can find capital to build new parks...where's the money to maintain them?

Our city parks are a core service and their maintenance is critical to all residents. They are a vital part of the soul of our city. PRNS continues to address a very large backlog of city parks maintenance items, especially the rehabilitation of numerous older parks in our lower income areas. The parks' budget will again be negatively impacted by continuing soaring water costs, old irrigation equipment, stressed trees and unusable turf. The city parks use 20% less water now than before the big drought. This year's water costs are budgeted at $6 million with another large water cost increase coming. The cost of not dealing with critical park rehabilitation and maintenance issues only cost the city more in the future with neglected park infrastructure, services, trees, fauna and turf. Water costs are a key driver of increased costs to PRNS.

Properly maintained parks increase property values and related tax revenue for park neighboring properties and also help to reduce crime that often comes with run-down parks.

We are asking that you:

1. Grant the parks' budget headcount recommended and justified by PRNS management.
2. Take into account additional parks' workload related to new parks' future maintenance needs, growing rehabilitation needs of neighborhood parks AND park trails; as well as the related increased safety, sanitary and trash issues associated with increasing homelessness.
3. Adjust the Parks budget formulation method for water to reflect actual water costs that include the upcoming rate increases, and automatically increment each year to reflect rate increases (like to city already does for city electricity needs). Our kids and families need to play, have outside sports and games, and picnics and take walks on good turf and trails in a park healthy and well-maintained environment.

4. Include money to: a) install SMART irrigation controllers, b) repair and replace old irrigation systems, c) replace and rehabilitate turf, and d) replace unused turf, stressed plants and trees with drought tolerant varieties in order to save the most water and money.

5. Reinstitute the armed park rangers to protect our parks and trail users for growing safety issues including unwanted homeless and gang safety threats. Many of our parks and trails are becoming serious havens for undesirable people who limit their use by our citizens due to safety issues. In the past, San Jose had a park ranger unit that was disbanded around 2001 in a much safer environment than we now have in San Jose, a time when we had sufficient law enforcement staff.

We urge you to address these priorities when you evaluate the city budget, keeping in mind that PRNS represents a critical core city function benefiting all city residents.

Sincerely,

Craig Ash & Jerry Mungai

Fw: Homeless on corner of 10th and Williams

From: Ton Lien
Sent: Tuesday, May 1, 2018 2:21 PM
To: District3; City Clerk; The Office of Mayor Sam Liccardo
Subject: Homeless on corner of 10th and Williams

Dear Mayor and Councilman Perez,

I am a San Jose resident and owner of an apartment building near the corner of S. 10th Street and Williams in downtown San Jose.

For as long as I can recall, there have been homeless people gathering at the corner liquor store or in front of the laundromat. Over the past year, the presence of the homeless have increased and their behavior has become more aggressive.

I've spoken to the owner of the laundromat and he's given up. He's an elderly man and doesn't want to engage the homeless. Even though they use the side of his building as a public urinal.

For myself, I've had people sleep on the porch, blocking the entry to the building. Too often, I've had people defecate in the front yard and in the back near the dumpster. On the occasions when I've approach people on my property, they are drunk and aggressive. One actually tried to extort money from me, asking me how much money would I pay for him to move along. This is ridiculous and a public health issue. I'm sure you are aware of the Hepatitis A outbreak in San Diego.

This doesn't even mention the vandalism and break-ins (I've had 3 break-ins to the basement, where apparently homeless began to spend the night.)

I plead with you to help clean up the streets. I will commend the local police station, they do come and address the issues on the occasions it became necessary. But its only temporary, the same people come back the next day. This isn't a solution, the officers shouldn't be spending their time like this.

I realize homelessness is a big societal problem and there aren't easy answers, but I hope you know the citizens of San Jose need to see progress here.

Regards,
Ton Lien

Subject: Letter of Support for continued Sister Cities program

To whom it may concern,

I am fifth generation American. My great-great-grandparents left Japan for Hawaii on the America Maru in 1899. Despite the difficulty and hardship of immigrant life in the early 20th Century, they thrived. Their children – my great-grandparents and their siblings – owned 80 acres of farmland near Doyle Road in Cupertino.

When WWII broke out, they were taken to internment camps. I have family members on both sides of history as 442nd Regiment troops and No-No Boys that went to prison for refusing to serve while their families suffered. When they returned to San Jose after the war, half their land was gone.

Our family's predecessors were very removed from their roots in Japan, but their respect of cultural traditions and pride in heritage remained – often, it seemed, that was what they and their peers faithfully held onto when their American identity was being stripped of them.

I designed the artwork for the 50th Anniversary of the Okayama-San Jose Sister City agreement, and then the 60th Anniversary. It remains one of my favorite projects, since researching the project gave me greater insight as to why the relationship exists between the two cities.

For the delegates of Okayama to recognize the shared history of our ancestors and continue to care, it is a valuable thing. For San Jose's Mayor and Council to engage, it is an honor worth continuing.

I encourage Mayor Liccardo and the Council to recognize the importance of our Sister City relationship with Okayama, and see it as a reflection of how we value the history of Japanese-Americans in our own city.

Best regards,
Tamiko Rast

Subject: Reducing Crime and Keeping CA Safe Act of 2018

Hello

This is in regards to support the "Reduce Crime and Keep CA Safe Act 2018".

I have always heard reasons saying that there no PD force to monitor often or follow up on crime or even investigate. But being in silicon valley you should make use of Technology to do the same. So that PD force can used for investigation and other purposes. Just by putting CCTVs will reduce so much of this. I see so much illegal garbage thrown on freeways which destruct the commute. This can also be easily monitored by placing cameras at regular intervals. Start responding to crimes at random at real time this will scare away people and will make them think twice before the commit petty crimes. Petty crimes has increased a lot in Bay area. I hear almost 10 everyday. Especially burglary being so common given everyone at home works or out in school. Its an easy target but if these crimes are responded at random they will reduce considerably. Package burglary is so common that it has probably happened to everyone living in bay area. There are so many footage with facial image but still no action gets taken. Its a shame that silicon valley will soon top in crime. Before this happens city needs to take action against this. My sincere request to take necessary measures to get situation in control.
