

Extending Al Fresco programs

Lana Fox [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:36 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Lana Fox
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Save SJ Restaurants

Shawn Milligan [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:38 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Shawn Milligan
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Restaurants

Judi Souza [REDACTED] >

Thu 3/11/2021 2:39 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3).

I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

I see only upsides to this. Those of us living in Willow Glen have been trying, for years, to emulate Los Gatos, with that quaint, homey small-town feel. Since we eliminated some of the traffic and roadway, the al fresco dining has added to our charm. Let the businesses decide for themselves if they wish to avail themselves of this opportunity to showcase their restaurants. (Just think- a positive Covid-related issue!)

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing, Gentlemen, and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

And these opinions I speak as an owner of three (3) small businesses operating in San Jose.

Sincerely,

Judi Souza

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

We Need Support

Robert Farac [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:40 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Robert Farac
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Open county up!

Mike Bergstrom [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:42 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Mike Bergstrom
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Working with business to re-open

Drew Miller [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:43 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Drew Miller
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco program

Rodney Brooks [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:45 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Rodney Brooks
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Extend al fresco dining

Elier Peraza [REDACTED] >

Thu 3/11/2021 2:48 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Elier Peraza

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Restaurant Al Fresco program

Marty Kropelnicki [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:49 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Marty Kropelnicki
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Support Small Businesses

Nathan Wise [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:49 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Nathan Wise
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

small business resiliency

Jeff Meyers &lt;[REDACTED]&gt;

Thu 3/11/2021 2:51 PM

To: Agendadesk &lt;Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov&gt;

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Jeff Meyers

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

San Jose Al Fresco program

Lorene Alexander [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:56 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Lorene Alexander
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Extend the Al Fresco program

Grace Juran [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 2:56 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Grace Juran
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Please vote to help our restaurants!

Cindy Faulkner &lt;[REDACTED]&gt;

Thu 3/11/2021 3:00 PM

To: Agendadesk &lt;Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov&gt;

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Cindy Faulkner
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Extend San Jose Al Fresco

Bill Harrington <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:01 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Bill Harrington

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Support Al Fresco program

Erin Wildemuth <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:05 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Erin Wildemuth

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Please help Save our Restaurants

Janel Montes-Schmiedeberg [REDACTED] >

Thu 3/11/2021 3:07 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Janel Montes-Schmiedeberg

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Please support small businesses/restuarants and the Al Fresco program

Erika Gasaway [REDACTED] >

Thu 3/11/2021 3:10 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

To my elected representatives,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

I live and work in downtown San Jose. I cannot tell you how awesome it was last year to see the restaurants and small businesses innovate solutions to the COVID shutdown that wound up making downtown safer, cleaner, and more fun. Closing streets like San Pedro Street and Post Street to vehicle traffic opened up those spaces and gave businesses room to thrive. The new outdoor seating, lighting, music, TVs, and (more recently) heaters, and the addition of pop-up businesses have made those blocks more vibrant than I have ever seen them. I missed the window to go see a movie at the parking structure (I think it was hosted by Cinema 3?) but I would have loved to do that and hope it will be an option next year. Letting a local business get people outside to exercise in an empty parking lot is such a no brainer, since most of us living downtown don't have space in our apartments to workout and the gyms have all been closed. With more residents moving into the newly finished (and to be finished) high rises, the opportunity for the downtown businesses is greater than ever. Let's not get in their way!

I am so grateful to the owners of small businesses for doing their best to stay open, because they are part of what I love about living and working in downtown. I am asking you, as my representatives, to please return that gratitude by supporting them.

Please support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Erika Gasaway

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Extend the AI Fresco program

Monique Yamamoto <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:10 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose AI Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the AI Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Monique Yamamoto

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Extend the AI Fresco program

Ryan Yamamoto <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:11 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose AI Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the AI Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Ryan Yamamoto

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

approve the budget for small business

Huong Truong <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:12 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Huong Truong

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

We need to safely REOPEN Business ASAP

Brian Crane <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:14 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Brian Crane

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Restaurants

Roger Reedy <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:18 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Roger Reedy

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco Program

Julie Donnellan <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:25 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Julie Donnellan

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco program

Mark Tolley <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:31 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Mark Tolley

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Outdoor Dining

Casey Tharp [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 3:33 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Casey Tharp
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Agenda item 3.3 Small Business Resiliency

Randal Wing [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 3:40 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Randal Wing
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Supporting Restaurants and Small Business Owners - Al Fresco Extension

Glenn Perkins <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:44 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Glenn Perkins

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Current State and County Policy regarding COVID shelter in place

Michael Fox <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 3:45 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Michael Fox

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco Program

Leigh Fike [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 3:45 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Leigh Fike
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Please Give Our Business Owners a Chance

Lisa Riggs [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 3:48 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Lisa Riggs

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco

Kathryn Satcher [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 3:51 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Satcher
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Thank you for your consideration.

Nico Wiborg [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 3:57 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Nico Wiborg
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

San Jose Al Fresco program

Suzanne Sidensol [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 4:02 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Suzanne Sidensol
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Helping Local Restaurants (Speaking for Willow Glen)

Peter Fargo <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 4:08 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Peter Fargo

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Agenda item 3.3

Katja Breitwieser [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 4:08 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Katja Breitwieser
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

San Jose Al Fresco program

Joanne Beasley [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 4:11 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Joanne Beasley

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Support for Agenda Item 3.3

kim novielli <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 4:34 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

kim novielli

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Please reopen businesses safely.

Richard Ajluni [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 5:06 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Richard Ajluni
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco Program extention

Patrick Wolpert [REDACTED] >

Thu 3/11/2021 5:21 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please realize how POPULAR this is. Our small micro-festivals that allow extension of premises on festival weekends / farmer's markets / etc. are a huge success. The business and good will generated by this far outweighs the impact to traffic and pedestrian walkways. Many areas in San Jose could become a walkable paradise if this program is made permanent. Think about making San Jose a destination for leisure and dining. We have the talent and drive to make this happen.

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Patrick Wolpert

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Jose Al Fresco Program

Tony Mirenda [REDACTED] >

Thu 3/11/2021 5:25 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner. As someone whom has spent their entire 40+ year career here in San Jose, I believe it is time to continue to help our restaurants/small businesses get back on the road to recovery. This would create a badly needed revenue stream to assist these business Owners and their employees during this truly difficult and extraordinary time.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Tony Mirenda
[REDACTED]

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Please keep outdoor dining open

Kevin Dean <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 5:49 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

What better way to enjoy San Jose and the California climate? And it makes for a modern city look and feel. We need to change with the times.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kevin Dean

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Al Fresco

Bruce McHenry [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 5:58 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Bruce McHenry
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco Program

Dee Jack <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 5:59 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Dee Jack

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco Program

Warren Jack <[REDACTED]>

Thu 3/11/2021 6:02 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Warren Jack

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Support Local Restuarants

Judy Deaton [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 6:25 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Judy Deaton

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Extend Al Fresco in San Jose

Tanya Fleming [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 6:26 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Tanya Fleming
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Supporting Small Businesses

Johanna Hickle [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 6:29 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Johanna Hickle
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Al Fresco dining extension

Gina Cruse [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 6:43 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Gina Cruse
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Please extend our Al Fresco Program in San Jose!

Randy Musterer [REDACTED]

Thu 3/11/2021 7:08 PM

To: Agendadesk <Agendadesk@sanjoseca.gov>

[External Email]

Dear Clerk City Clerk,

Please vote to support Mayor Sam Liccardo's budget message (agenda item 3.3). I heard from the Silicon Valley Organization that one of the Mayor's budget priorities is to support small business resiliency. In particular, the San Jose Al Fresco program should be extended to let restaurants/small businesses expand their operations outdoors in a safe and responsible manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated restaurants and small businesses. The road to recovery will be a very long and arduous one, but we can give restaurants & small businesses a chance to earn their own income by extending the Al Fresco program.

According to the California Restaurant Association, 60% of restaurants in the state are owned by people of color. Restaurants are where minorities find their path to upward mobility. They are where families can share the food of their homeland country and earn a living with a degree of dignity. By supporting restaurants and small businesses, we can prevent local workers from falling into abject poverty and potentially homelessness through increased job security instead of layoffs.

Please do the right thing and support Mayor Liccardo's budget message to prioritize small business resiliency and to help them survive this pandemic. We won't have an equitable economic recovery if we are leaving our restaurants/small businesses behind.

Sincerely,

Randy Musterer
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]