Emergency Management Study Session.

1. Review Emergency Operations Center Activations and Role of the Elected Officials. Staff will report on recent Emergency Operations center activations and review the role of the elected officials during an emergency and purpose of a Disaster District Office.
2. Table Top Exercise. Staff will present a discussion-based tabletop exercise for the Mayor and Councilmembers; provide information on the City's overall emergency management efforts by discussion some of its emergency plans, how it coordinates response action, and how it communicates with the elected officials, the public, and partner response agencies.

Following the March 16, 2022 memorandum authored by Office of Emergency Management Director Ray Riordan:

The Study Session provided an overview on:

- Recent Emergency Operations Center (EOC) activations,
- The role of the elected officials during an emergency,
- Purpose of the Disaster District Office (DDO),
- Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP), and
- EOC functions.

The Study Session also included a discussion-based, facilitated tabletop exercise to demonstrate the City's overall emergency management efforts by discussing some of its emergency plans, how it coordinates response action, and how it communicates with the elected officials, the public, and partner response agencies. The Mayor and City Council engaged in discussions on:

- Actions to take during an emergency,
- How the EOC functions in a disaster and communicates with elected officials, and
- The updated plans and procedures that guide our emergency response.
