(3) Explore partnerships with San Jose State University and recommendation-neutral community-based institutions that have familiarity with SJPD and the San Jose community, as an additional “high touch” strategy to reach out to communities that may not be heard through digital platforms currently used.

(c) Direct the City Manager and Independent Police Auditor to confer on sequencing of the use of force review, reimagining public safety, and selection of a new Chief of Police to determine the best possible timeline and potential to involve the same consultant(s) for community engagement aspects of all of these portions of the workplan.
